THE AYANTEE
COMPLETE AWARENESS IN TIMES FOR COMPLETE COMMITMENT

During the past twelve months as a university, A&T witnessed many changes in the physical, intellectual, and social structure of society. Students as well as other university members were awarded the pleasure of observing the people in the immediate A&T area become aware of the problems of the late sixties. Issues that were formerly discussed behind closed doors or pushed under the rug were discussed in open forum. These were times when it was truly recognized that students had to be treated as men and women. As a result, many students, faculty and administrative officials observed the necessity to render the "old straddle the fence" technique obsolete. This was observed as one of the best signs that A&T was well on its way to demonstrating its performance as a university.

FOREWORD

During the past year, society has compounded its efforts to accomplish in many areas. More literature is available today than at any other point in the history of the world. This fact assisted by the ability of society to mechanize contributes to the needs for students to be aware of what is going on in the world. Mass media have made what is going on in other parts of the world almost a part of what goes on in our own areas.

What does this do for students? It forces them to overtax their physical and psychological facilities to the extent that some question themselves as to whether tomorrow is worth waiting for or not. It is the fast pace of society that motivates this generation of students to stop with the hustle and bustle. They are beginning to analyze life and its offerings to the extent that the very foundation of society is being questioned. That is, are we more concerned about material things or life itself? This question must be answered by each person. However, the majority of the students feel that it is time to open their eyes and take a stand. It is with this kind of awareness and commitment that the 1968-69 Ayantee Staff presents this publication.

Hargrave (24) barely misses Morgan player as Golden comes in for kill.

Jacobs, D. Cherry and Pearson observe defensive squad at work. The defense this year was superb in allowing only 80 points to be scored on them all season. Their season average was 8.8 points per game. Some defensive standouts this year were Ralph Coleman, Ben Blacknall, Henry Hipps, Billy Gaines, Doug Westmoreland, Wendell Bartee, Carlton Yates, Merl Code and Bill Hargrave. To name all the great defensive stars would mean half of the team roster. Those mentioned are but a few of them.

Coach Howell analyzes one of the great assets of the team . . . DEFENSE.

To the opposition, sudden death wears jersey no. 43.

Freshman end Willie Wright, with another year of aging, may become one of A & T's greatest receivers.

Flanker Daryle Cherry continues to be a triple threat to all opponents.

"The Day"—D-Day—Homecoming A & T clashes with Morgan State.

Converted QB Henry Walker drives into interior line.

When Gene Harrison caught this pass in the end zone, he was not only put 6 points on the scoreboard but he brought the end of a reign of 31 consecutive wins to the Morgan State Bears. The last defeat before their string of victories came at the hands of A & T in 1964. This year with offensive stars such as W. Pearson, S. Jacobs, R. Armstrong, H. Walker, D. Cherry, Holmes, K. Page, D. Bryant, T. Blue, and S. Wigfall, the Aggies did it again.

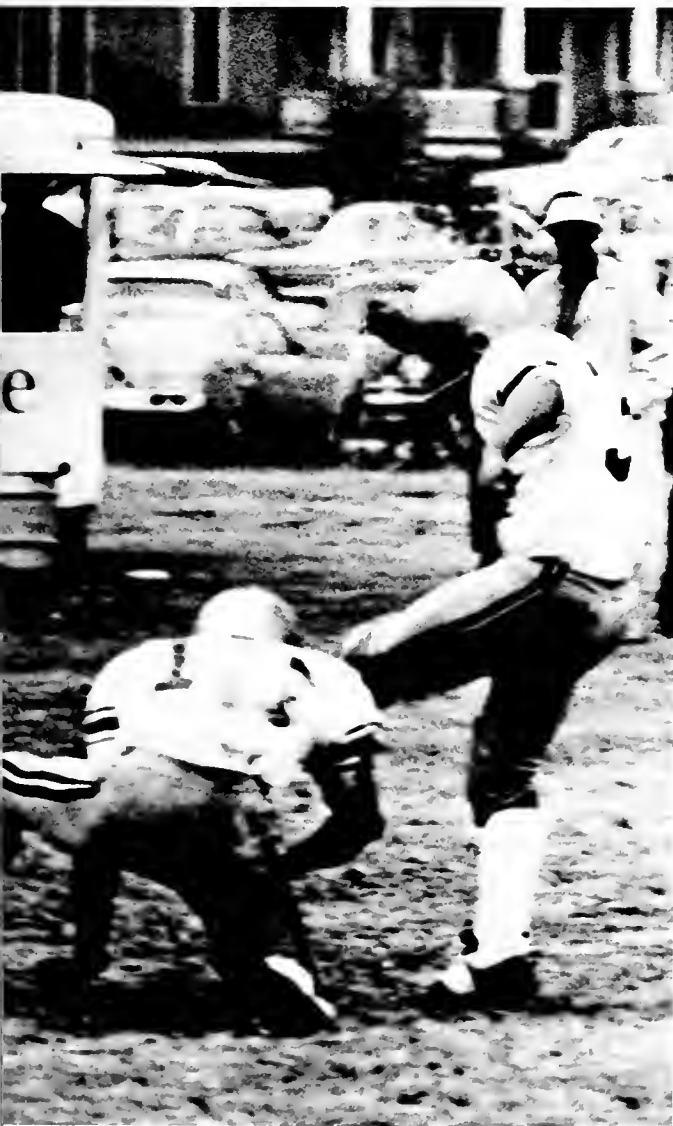

All CIAA Willie Pearson accepts coveted Bull Eagle Trophy as coaches and fans look on.

Defensive Backs Yates (46) and Westmoreland (43) bring (41) to an abrupt halt. The hitting of Westmoreland, Code, Bartee and Yates commanded respect of all opposition.

Converted QB Merl Code uses his deadly offensive knowledge to increase his defensive prowess.

Eric "The Toe" Cox uses his deadly foot whenever three points are better than gambling for six. Against Morgan State and Florida A & M the toe made the difference.

If he floats like a butterfly and stings like a bee, you'll know it's Bartee.
